Imagine a young mother walking into a local temple, her toddler in tow, on a relaxed weekend. There she meets an enthusiastic man talking to people about an organization he works with. He gives her a flyer with information. And this lady does not just take and keep the flyer in her purse to be looked at later but she actually reads it, talks to the man, finds out details of this wonderful organization that she likes right at first go just reading about them and later on joins the organization herself with her husband and young daughter. This actually happened almost 10 years ago and the lady I am talking about here is none other than our own Kalyani Gudlavalleti.
Sometime in 2012, Kalyani joined MaiFS as a volunteer. She believed that MaiFS was doing the kind of work that she always wanted to do as a way of giving back to the community we live in. She felt very deeply about the issues faced by victims of domestic abuse/neglect and wanted to do some meaningful work in helping out as & when she can and wherever she can. Coming to MaiFS with this kind of outlook, it is no wonder she picked up many tasks and responsibilities. Be it manning the MaiFS booth at numerous community events, being the main volunteer in organizing many fundraising events, giving clients rides to grocery shops or library or doctor appointments, helping some clients with not just getting the resources at the library but helping them with tasks like resume writing; you name it and she did it.

Kalyani was not alone in doing things for MaiFS clients. Her young daughter joined her in doing what she could at the young age of 4 (yes, just Four). Do I think we have had one of the youngest volunteers ever? Yes, I do! Mahati would pass out flyers, sell raffle tickets, engage in kids’ activities at the Walkathon, and basically help in her own special way with everything her dear mother did. And do you think the Dad was left behind? No way! Amar participated whenever he could whether it was moving furniture for clients or behind the scenes activities like technical support for events, taking pictures and creating photo documentation of various events, or even helping out at the holiday banquet with manning stations.

Kalyani took up the responsibilities of being a Volunteer Coordinator in 2016 and then being a MaiFS Board member. Her smiling face and a very approachable persona have always been a big influence on the volunteers’ team she worked and led. She says she values the human connection in the work done by MaiFS the most. I am not surprised that even after 10 years of being in various different roles she plans to stay and always helps in all activities planned by MaiFS. On the professional and career front Kalyani holds a Ph.D. in Electrical Engineering, works in the autonomous car industry and Amar works in the IT arena as an IT Systems Architect. They bring their expertise and knowledge with them to all things they do for MaiFS and add immense value to every activity they become a part of.

MaiFS certainly feels lucky to have this family on our Volunteer Team!

As we keep up with Mai Family Services’s core mission to help South Asian families in vulnerable situations due to domestic and family violence, we have been fortunate the last several years to have received a Michigan Department of Health and Human Services (MDHHS) funding – the STOP-Grant to provide vulnerable members of the underserved South Asian communities with programs to empower them, and help them overcome their vulnerabilities. Over the years through this program, we have offered, and continue to offer the following classes to the members of South Asian communities in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, and Washtenaw - ESL, Basic Computer Literacy, and Financial Literacy as well as domestic violence and education advocacy classes.

In the next few months, as we enter the sixth year of the STOP-Grant our goal is to increase our programs amongst other South Asian communities, and especially vulnerable members in the Indian organizations of Metro Detroit. Towards this, we are planning an ambitious outreach program to recruit more organizations to participate in the STOP-Grant program. In this community-wide outreach plan, we require your help and assistance. Please help us spread the word about Mai Family Services, and the wonderful services available through the STOP-Grant Program. The program’s flyer is part of this newsletter. There is another way that you can be of help - If you or someone else you know, is interested in providing instruction in ESL, Basic Computer Literacy, or Financial Literacy in our STOP-Grant programs, please look up current opportunities and job requirements at https://maifs.org/job-opportunities/
